Macular Disease

Summer is over
Submitted by Victor Cueva on August 20, 2009 - 11:38pm
It is August 20th and I just can not believe how fast summer has gone by. We begin classes in four days! This will be my last semester at SUNY Ulster, and I will be getting my Associates degree in Liberal Arts Humanities & Social Sciences.

A Day to Remember..
Submitted by Victor Cueva on April 22, 2009 - 6:59am
On April 16th, 2007 thirty-two lives were lost in Virginia Tech. One of them was my twenty-one year old cousin, Daniel Perez Cueva, who only needed one more semester to graduate with an International Relations Degree. He was a very smart individual and an older brother to me.

My first blog
Submitted by Victor Cueva on April 4, 2009 - 8:57am
Hello everyone! I am extremely excited about the launching of this blog page. It is not only fun for me to do, but it will be helpful for all perspective students to read about what life is like at SUNY Ulster. The best part is that there are many exceptional bloggers (faculty members, international students, student athletes etc.) who will be sharing their experiences with you. Now let me introduce myself.
